How to write a 'Personal Statement'

A personal statement is your chance to tell the university why you are applying for this programme, and why they should want you as a student. The admissions officer will want to know why you are interested in the programme you have applied for and what you hope to do after your studies. A good personal statement is important and should help to persuade an admissions officer to offer a place. In many cases, applicants are not interviewed, so this may be your only chance to make a case for your admission.

There is no set format for a personal statement. Consider carefully the information you given to support your application and the best way to present it effectively. Remember, you must be truthful and accurate in what you write. It is up to you how you write your statement but we suggest you include some or all of the following points:

- Why you have chosen the programme(s) you have listed
- What interests you about your chosen subject? Include details of what you have read about the subject
- Why do you want to study in Yemen?
- What are you future career plans?
